Beacon Educator Online Courses

Beacon Educator offers online professional development on a number of current educational topics. Beacon's curriculum content and professional development offerings have received high praise from educators, district and state-level administrators, and university representatives.

As a project of Bay District Schools in Panama City, Florida, Beacon has been in existence since 1997, providing high quality, professional development and standards based resources for educators.

Someone in your district is seeking your approval to participate in and earn inservice credit for one or more of the Beacon courses. A syllabus of the desired course(s) is attached. Each of our online courses features interactive support, experienced teachers as facilitators, collegial discussion groups, and specific documents of learner progress.

At the conclusion of the course, the participant will have access to print a transcript that documents completion of the course. If you would like to preview a course, please visit www.beaconeducator.com and select Programs. Then select Course Overview. The Quick Look link provides you with a short course syllabus.
